Speaking About Parking...

Henry Ford brought the farmer to town in the Model T, and the automobile industry has brought the farmer's son and daughter to college and high school in a gas buggy of some type; Mama has a runabout to go shopping and meetings.

Instead of the hitching rack on the square there are parking meters and parking lots in every budding community of the country.

Parking is a problem in the city and in the smaller communities in proportion to the size and concentration of business houses.

There is a tendency in all large communities to establish trading centers on the outskirts where sufficient parking space is available at the store.

Established communities are faced with type of parking, meters and off-street parking areas in order to save the value of high priced retail sites - Belle Glade is in the midst of such a problem.

It will take expert advice, in-the-store-advice, sidewalk advice and the opinion of the potential customer to arrive at a workable solution.

Belle Glade's merchants have made a suggestion, at the request of City authorities, that combining of parallel and angle parking be tried before final action is taken. They are to be commended for the expression in this suggestion by a goodly number.

Jordan Minister Is Station Guest

Everglades Experiment Station this week played host to Saliba Hanna Khader, a minister from the Ministry of Agriculture, Jerusalem, Jordan, according to Dr. W. T. Forsee, chemist-in-charge, who said Khader was here to learn about plant protection methods for diseases and insect control.

In this country since January, he will make stops at Washington, California, and New York in addition to Florida. Khader is plant protection officer in the Ministry of Agriculture and is responsible for the supervision of all plant protection demonstrations, control campaigns and he advises farmers concerning plant protection.

After consulting engineers and local officers slowed down their work in bringing the council proposed plan on the treatment plant, councilmen expressed a desire to solve the problem without too great a financial burden.

A Jacksonville manufacturer of pressure towers talked to the council Thursday, according to City Manager Gene Caruthers. The city will now get an engineer to explain how to finance the construction of the 100,000 gallon capacity tower.

Although South Bay uses some two to three million gallons per month, the storage of the 100,000 per month would, Caruthers said, correct most of the pressure problem.

No provisions were discussed for extending water lines to Lake Harbor and Bean City as originally planned with the treatment plant.

The city manager said the Florida Inspection and Rating Bureau has notified him that the fire insurance rates would be cut about half if the stand pipe on the building is built.

Caruthers also announced that city hall office hours would be 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. with no noon closing, no Wednesday afternoon closing; but the office will still close Saturdays.

Mrs. Caruthers has been associated with the city as clerk-typist, he said.

At the business meeting, Mrs. A. B. DeGraw, vice-president presided. Mrs. L. I. Price reported the total membership funds were $632.70. Plans were discussed for a Benefit card party and style show scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 14 at 1 p. m.

The group voted to write a letter of thanks for the generous donations to the hospital fund by Mrs. Roy Brown and J. A. Baker.

It was announced that a farewell party for a ceramic lady was presented Mrs. and Mrs. Floyd Miller when he resigned Saturday at 11 o'clock.

The creation of a Department of Public Works is the first major change in the city's departmental structure since 1956 when a Recreation and Parks Department was created.

Talmadge said he thought the city had a need for an engineer who will be director of the department which will have the supervision of streets, water and sewer works and garbage and trash control. He pointed out that the present department heads would lose none of their position, rank or importance; however, the Department of Public Works would seek to coordinate and regulate these activities as well as provide the city with the services of a resident engineer.

New Department Created For City In 59-60 Budget

City of Belle Glade will create a new department within its administrative structure in the latest step to modernize municipal government, according to City Manager C. B. Talmadge.

Growth And Inflation Are Budget Increase Factors

Belle Glade's budget for fiscal 1959-60 presented Wednesday at the city commission meeting shows a $41,490 increase for the city's operation; however, the millage of 12.5 will remain the same, according to City Manager C. B. Talmadge, who testified the budget sound and said the increase was due to normal inflation of operational costs plus the growth in city population.

The budget for the coming year beginning Oct. 1 should be in the range of $568,471, he said. Last year's estimated figures were $526,981.

Revenue

Most revenue sources are expected to increase. Real property tax, biggest source, is up $9,575.25 to $128,720; personal property tax, up $2,012.25 to $28,583; cigarette tax refund up $2,500 to $72,500; utility tax up $3,000 to $58,000. These are the major items of the general revenue. Total general from all sources is an estimated $347,540, an increase of $14,139.50.

Other major sources in addition to the general fund include $53,500 from building - sanitation; $9,575 from parks-playgrounds and $52,500 from the police department.

Water Department

The Water Department budget is $172,941 compared to the 1958-59 figure of $164,050. Chemical supply funds are down $5,000 to $10,000. Total chemical supply of the chemicals in the new plant facilities.

Major increases will go for a new sewage ($3,000) and maintenance ($1,000). Water distribution line expense, a separate item, is up $7,000 for added pipe.

"Christian work with the Oklahoma Indians" is the topic this month for study by the Women's Missionary Union of First Baptist Church of South Bay. Mrs. Edwin Leathlean, program chairman, is in charge of the study.

The study tells of the Rev. and Mrs. Elliott Leitch and their family who mission work in the Creek speaking Cherokee of Oklahoma. The minister and his family whose mission work took them to Stilwell, Okla., in August, 1958, states the four churches have progressed in the short time and each have pastors and worship in buildings made possible by the Baptist Home Mission Board. They now have Training Union, WMU, Sunday School and Royal Ambassadors. In his testimony Rev. Leitch says, "I believe with all my heart that Indians will go along in the Lord's work with a good teacher. They will follow an Indian leader because he is one of their own."

The members were reminded of the State Mission Offering, Session of Prayer scheduled Sept. 21-23, the goal is $50,000. The local church, goal is $40.

BIBLE

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD
By Rev. August Koerber
"I am the Light of the world; he that walketh in darkness but will have the light of life." St. John VIII 12.

The entrance of Jesus into the life of men is the entrance of light. Without Him men walk in the darkness of sin, in confusion, frustration, fear, and damnation. The kind of progress men boast of can be disilluminating.

We have learned through terrible wars that progress in technology only leads to the darkness and death of the world when there is no progress in Christianity. Bertrand Russell, the English philosopher, once noted that each day the world becomes more unified technically, and more disunited psychologically. "To see the light is the meaning of our lives; to discover in His death the power over our death, to see in His empty tomb the assurance of our resurrection, to draw from His commands the goals of our labors, to take from His promises power to achieve His purposes."

To walk in the light is to walk as at noonday toward the brightness of God's eternity.

The Book

By Nello T. Secree
It is interesting to learn the geography of the Bible, especially the geography of the Holy Land. To see the light is the meaning of our lives; to discover in His death the power over our death, to see in His empty tomb the assurance of our resurrection, to draw from His commands the goals of our labors, to take from His promises power to achieve His purposes."

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

OUR NEW ABUNDANT LIFE BUILDING

We recently dedicated our new Abundant Life Building in Tulsa. You have probably already read something about this new structure. You deserve to know more. So I am going to use the words of Howard Smith, a newspaper feature writer from Franklin, Texas, to tell you more about our new building. He writes:

"The proud slogan of The City Beautiful takes on a new meaning now... I was privileged the princely privilege of making a tour through the world's most beautiful building."

This new Oral Roberts building, quarters building, with exterior of white Vermont marble, really glistens and glows with dazzling brilliance. And the interior is no less beautiful.

The two top floors of space in the seven-story structure are devoted to a magnificent auditorium... the like of which you feel have never seen.

But in my extensive travels I often have opportunities to do a lot of firsthand investigation, and I must add that in recent years the more I have learned about Oral Roberts, the more I have admired him and appreciated what he is doing in spreading the good news of the gospel of Jesus Christ to the four corners of the earth...

FP&L Film Is Available

"Light-As You Like It," a new color motion picture dealing with the newest ideas in home lighting, has been added to the film library of Florida Power & Light Co. It will be available for loan at meetings of women's clubs, schools, and service organizations. Use of the film is free.

For more information on the 24-minute film, call Florida Power & Light Company's local manager, Curtis Chase. Arrangements for awards may also be made to have an FPL representative attend the meeting and answer questions.

FARM AND CITY

Timeworn distinctions between farm and city cousins are rapidly disappearing, say rural sociologists. Another fusion taking place is in 4-H Clubs.

In Florida as in virtually every other state, non-farm 4-H boys and girls are carrying many of the same projects as their counterparts living on farms, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Two examples are the electric and entomology projects. Every household at one time or another has need of simple electrical repairs on iron cords, switches, fans, wall outlets, small motors, and the like. Made-to-order items such as lamps always find favor with mother, while converting man-made energy to electric power makes many chores easier. These are but a few things that 4-H'ers learn to do and demonstrate in the electric project.

The entomology program often starts 4-H'ers in an exciting hobby like collecting butterflies, and identifying rare or indigenous species of insects. They also learn to recognize helpful as well as harmful.

Whether club members cultivate small gardens or vast acreage, they can apply this knowledge to growing better vegetables, flowers, fruits and grains. Pets and farm animals are benefited, too.

With the help of county extension agents, local volunteer 4-H leaders, and junior leaders, the young people "learn by doing." More than 5,000 club members are presently enrolled in 4-H schoolship.

Westinghouse Educational Foundation has been donor of 4-H electric awards for nearly a quarter of a century. This is the eighth year that Hercules Powder Company has supported the entomology program. Arrangements for awards are made by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

school's new athletic director, Willie Irvin, himself a former pro football player.

Irvin said his nucleus of let-termen and team members returning said he's planning a multiple offense this year with a few of the wrinkles he picked up in former coaching years and his professional ball playing experience.

In his first Herald interview, he had 27 men with a few more expected, and his first drills proved he was going to have a good squad on his hands.

Cautiously, Irvin said he was going to react like all other coaches and say every season is a hard one. The schedule, much the same as last year's, sports two new rivals, West Riviera Beach and East Lake, Pahokee.

East Lake, a 10th year school, isn't expected to be a strong candidate this year, however, West Riviera, an 11th grade entrant, was expected to be tough going ever before Ben McCoy, former Lake Shore coach, took the coaching post this year.

McCoy's ability as a coach shouldn't be discounted. Lake Shore may have a good contestant to face because of McCoy.

Screwworm Work Still Goes On Headquarters facilities here the State-Federal Screwworm Eradication program will be the scene soon of an intensive training course in screwworm identification. Purpose of the course will be to train a selected group of state and Federal personnel from agencies engaged in livestock disease control, prevention and eradication work, in the highly specialized task of differentiating between true screwworm and other similar insects. Persons completing the course will be qualified to assist in screwworm survey work in their areas and will be prepared for protecting regions free of screwworm from re-infestation, according to Dr. R. S. Sharman, Washington, D. C., in charge of USDA's screwworm eradication being carried on by a National Disease Eradication Division of the Agricultural Research Service. The first course, for one week starting September 14, will be attended by 14 men and 2 women assigned from ADE stations in 13 states. Trained specialists staff the identification center of the eradication program's headquarters at Sebring which is also the site of the huge mass-rearing and sterilizing laboratory. The center examines and classifies each month scores of specimens from suspected cases sent in from states on both sides of the Mississippi River. Trainees attending the course will have an opportunity to visit all of the facilities for production and sterilizing millions of screwworm flies each week which are being dispersed over an area that has ranged from 50,000 to nearly 85,000 square miles to wipe out the native fly population. Since the full-scale program started operation in July, 1958 positive screwworm cases in Florida and the Southeast have been reduced to the vanishing point. 9-10-11t

Farmers Security Benefits Boosted Beginning in October farmers will have social security disability protection for the first time. That date can be an important one for any farmer who becomes severely disabled in October or later months. Although many severely disabled people in the Belle Glade area are now receiving disability insurance benefits under social security, farmers have not been able to qualify up until this time, according to R. C. Gehlken, Jr., Manager of the West Palm Beach social security office. A disabled person has to have social security credit for 40 years immediately before he became disabled. Because farmers were not covered under the law until January 1955, they could not meet this test. By now, however most farmers will have earned 5 years or 20 quarters of coverage under social security beginning with the month of October. 9-3-4t

Sewer Plant

Sewer plant operation, one of the newest items in the budget, is expected to operate on a $55,000 budget with $19,262 set for operational expenses and salaries with the remainder of the budget for debt service on the revenue bonds.

Expenditures

Areas with the largest increases include streets and sanitation departments; areas with largest reductions are library and swimming pool departments.

Other areas with slight increases are fire, police and building departments; areas where budgets are down are parks, city manager and golf course.

Total departmental expenditures for the coming year are $445,296 and for the present year $385,105.49.

Formal dedication of the city's sewage treatment plant will be held Sept. 17 at the plant site on South Canal St. (W.) west of Chosen at 2 p. m. when David B. Lee, Director of Sanitary Engineering for the State Board of Health, will be principal speaker at the event.

Guests from civic clubs, other cities and numerous other public figures are expected to attend in addition to the general public, according to City Manager C. B. Talmadge.

Talmadge said the plant had been in use Sept. 1; however, he cautioned the public to be watchful of what went into the system. He said, when making sewer connections, to be careful to keep rocks and trash and broken pipe from getting into the lines. Pumps could be damaged.

works department is $12,650, half of which will be paid by the Water Department's budget.

Civil Service

In connection with streamlining of structures, Talmadge also announced that Florida State University would conduct a personal survey to adjust civil service salaries and wages. Looking forward to this possibility, Talmadge said, the sum of $10,000 has been set aside in the 1959-1960 budget.

City Clerk Frank Anderson said the Recreation and Parks Department has never functioned as defined; therefore, the creation of the new department is the first since the Sanitation Department was created in the early 1950's. The Sanitation Department was later consolidated into the Building Inspector's Department.

The road to recovery or correction of a problem is to first make the student realize what the problem is. One of the major problems will be the migrant student situation. Special material and programs are being considered and adapted for this area.

Where the answer to the problem is disciplinary and where the student has an IQ problem through physical or mental difficulties, special units of the county guidance program take over. Referral to a county point is the step here.

Chancellor One

Ruling the extremes, Marquess follows a pattern of showing a student his capable areas. Where well-adjusted students can't make the grade in a difficult subject plan, he must enable the student to realize a vocational career would be more suitable.

When fully implemented, Marquess will be able to show students the proper schools for their potentials; proper channels for their abilities. Not only will the student be helped, but special training will be forthcoming for the counselor. One might say the principal responsibility of our educational system is guidance. Our county school system is making a good stab at it.

Congressmen Look At FCD Rainfall

Congressman Paul G. Rogers of West Palm Beach and Congressman Dante B. Fascell of Miami, noting the unusually heavy rainfall in South Florida during the summer months and the high water table which has resulted, requested the U. S. Army Engineer at Jacksonville to report to them the specific steps the Army Engineers are taking to prevent serious flooding in south Florida, and their plans to work with the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District in the event flooding should occur in the south Florida area.

In a letter to the two Florida Congressmen, the Army Engineers have stated they will "Do everything possible to prevent loss of lives and protect property during flood emergencies. Reporting networks have been established so that the hydrologic data needed to make emergency decisions, will be available. We are maintaining close liaison with Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District personnel to insure the proper division of duties and coordinated action in case of emergency."

It was also stated that all Flood control works have been inspected and found to be in good condition by the Army and the flood district.

The Army Engineer said that if South Florida should experience a storm or hurricane with over 5 inches of rain in any 24 hour period, considerable flooding would occur in areas where flood project works have not been completed. He assured the Congressmen, however, that all future developments will be carefully observed and precautionary planning is being taken. Congressmen Rogers and Fascell, at a meeting in Washington with Senators Holland and Smathers and representatives of the U. S. Army Engineers and officials of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, urged the Engineers to complete work on flood control projects in south Florida, to insure proper flood protection for the entire area.

that an accounting machine was being purchased for the city which would modernize and standardize the accounting system for the city.

"The city should endeavor to make some capital improvements each year, and I recommend that steps be taken immediately for the preparation of a six year capital improvement program," Talmadge told the councilmen.

Other Action

Talmadge asked the council what it wanted to do about remarking the streets and adjusting the parking meter spaces, particularly on W. Avenue A. Councilman W. J. Evans said he thought the matter was already settled; but he moved that paired parallel parking be left as-is on W. Avenue A. The motion carried.

It was also decided to allow property owners on streets with parking meters to rent on space in front of their property where individual occupancy is the rule.

Weekly Staffers Get Guest Tour At Cape Canaveral Missile Center

An enlightening experience to this writer was the trip made recently when a group of Florida weekly newspaper people, as guests of the 3rd and 5th districts of the state press association, were taken on a conducted tour of the Air Force Missile Test Center at Cape Canaveral.

As one of the very small (but very regular) income tax payers who has (with others) contemplated the possibility of a tax cut, the trip revealed some startling and taxwise discouraging facts.

We learned that the monthly payroll for this testing station alone totals $9 million; this figure for a total of 19,000 employees, 1000 of whom are working at tracking stations in the 5,000 mile range from the cape to Ascension Island in the South Atlantic. When brought to consider that this station is but a step-child to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration program; that it is just the name implied — merely a testing station — first the missiles must be built, checked and shipped before any actual work there begins, we begin to conceive the enormity of the overall program.

Then these okay'd "birds" are sent on to a California armed services training station where personnel are taught to put them to use in the event that it ever be necessary, and to be used for other research and development testing. What a small dot this one phase of the missile program in itself would put must be!

The tour of the cape reminded of an old prosperous oil field with dozens of "gushers" dotting the area. To each of the twelve missiles, the Snork, Polaris, Jupiter, Vanguard, Explorer, Atlas, Thor and are assigned three wells (launching stations) built eight to ten stories high. The actual firing station for each is a round dome — like block windowless building with 20 feet thick solid concrete wall and built, we were told, to withstand 50,000 tons of TNT shot.

A view of some of "the birds" being made ready for launching and hearing the terms "unbillee," "unbillee cord" and others used made one feel they were very much alive alright.

We learned that, contrary to public opinion, the missile program is not so new; that missiles belong to the fire-cracker family; that crude ones were used first by the Chinese as early as 1230 A.D. and by people of India in wars in the sixteenth century; reminded that our own National Anthem tells us of "the rocket's red glare" during the War of 1812; at the close of World War Two the potential of missiles was obvious (Hitler had widely pointed the

The Falcon Ford shown here is more than two feet shorter and three-quarters of a ton lighter than a standard 1959 Ford. Yet the Falcon is a six-passenger car, with interior roominess approximating that of standard models.

Wage-Hour Official Warns Farmers About Federal Child Labor Laws

Farmers who are hiring workers for harvesting the fall crop were reminded today that the Fair Labor Standards Act sets a 16-year age minimum for the employment of children in agriculture during school hours.

The reminder came from Sterling B. Williams, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, the agency which administers this law.

Mr. Williams pointed out that children may lawfully work on farms before and after school hours or on weekends, but their place in the classroom when school is in session in the school district where the child is currently living. He said the only exception to the law is the child working exclusively for his parents or for a relative.

An age certificate showing that the youngster is at least 16 is the best protection the farmer can have against inadvertent violation. These certificates are usually available from local school officials.

Williams added that the Federal child-labor law applies to farmers who engage in interstate commerce or ship their products in interstate commerce, either directly or to firms who ship them across State lines in their original form or as an ingredient of another product.

Discovery that the behavior of DDT in water influence its effectiveness in killing mosquito larvae is announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This previously unknown action of the world's most widely used insecticide was discovered by USDA entomologists and chemists at Orlando. The finding came about during their attempts to determine why simple mosquito-resistance tests in laboratories failed in some instances to provide reliable data.

Employing a radioactive tracer in DDT, scientists found that the chemical refuses to get out of suspension in water, either by evaporation or by clinging to walls and bottoms of containers.

The discovery may help explain some of the unpredictable results obtained by mosquito control workers in applying the insecticide to ponds, lakes, and other breeding areas. Field studies are now being contemplated to see if changes in the manner of using DDT will lead to more effective results.
